PROFILE

As a consultant I've worked on the field for over 07 years, I've gained experience with client excellence, client management, and so on. In the last couple of years, I also gained experience on the internal system used in all offices worldwide, liase with other branches for improvement and provided training to new consultants.

With the systems experience, came the interest in Computer Science, thus I have taken the opportunity to complete a few courses and finally work on a career change. Completing courses at HarvardX (CS50), I've gained a deep knowledge on a few of the most common programming languages and I'm looking forward to this exciting career change.
